

A Humble Example

Unfortunately there are times where I have seen those professing to be servants, actually making a mockery of this ministry. They are inattentive, disorganized, distracted and have their own agenda. They may physically be present at the time, but they are nowhere in the room. Two verses of scripture found in St. Mark 15:40, 41 illustrate the adjutant's foundation for service. The 41st verse declares "when he was in Galilee, followed him, and ministered unto him". It may seem like a no-brainer to some, but others just don't get the point. If you (or those who profess their service to you) are not acting upon the principles illustrated by these two women, then some things are out of line. Every adjutant follows. That translates to listens to, watches and humbly submits to and obeys their leader. It is further the charge of the adjutant to lay aside his own ambitions and plans in order to promote the ministry of his leader, we are not to seek the 'spotlight' on any occasion but rather are to serve 'from the shadows' as it were.

So ask yourself or of your adjutant, who are you (they) following? Are you (they) following fame and supposed ministry lime-light? Or are they following the master? It is just as Paul declared to the church at Corinth. "Be ye followers of me, even as I also am of Christ." 1 Cor. 11:1
